COMMENT and RUMOR-

New occasions teach new duties,
Time makes ancient good uncouth;
They must upward still and onward,
Who would keep abreast of truth.

There has never been a more true occasion for use of the above verse than today when folks are certainly learning more new duties than ever before.

The honor roll on our subscription list was topped Monday by Myron Insko when the mail brought us his check in payment of five years subscription to the Ocean Beach News. This pays the Inskos to July 1, 1948. Runner-up was James Miltenberger who left his check to January 1, 1947. Mrs. Howard Close was third of the week, paying to February 1, 1946. Next is Roy Brazell who left his check for a couple of years subscription keeping him in good standing to Jan. 1, 1946.

Dozens of loyal neighbors paid into 1945 and taken altogether we expect a full hundred people paid during this last week. Forty-five new subscribers were added without solicitation during October.

Now you folks who haven't taken advantage of our present rates, remember, they hold at $2 per year only until Saturday night. Subscription is $2.50 beginning Nov. 1.

In less than a week Clyde A. Wright post American legion, with Daniel Moss commander, gathered in 1½ tons of old newspapers. Gather them up and bring them in. The Legion round-up lot for old newspapers is at 5014 Newport ave. There is a large sign above the fenced area, formerly used as an open fruit market.

Gene Henderson, Ocean Beach Transfer and O. W. Jordan, plumber, held open house last Saturday afternoon at their new quarters, 5040 Newport ave. Gene and Mrs. Jordan greeted their old friends and customers while Oscar supervised the installation of another window in the east wall and a few other conveniences.

We noted Willis LeJeune cleaning up old weeds from his lot near Safeway on Newport ave. the first of the week. There are a number of other nearby properties in the business section which are an eyesore and fire hazard which owners might clean up if they realized what a bad impression these selfsame lots make upon strangers. We who pass by these weedy plots of ground each day become accustomed to them but others who see them maybe for the first time remark about the untidy places right in the busy business area.

We didn't hear any complaint last week about signing up for Ration Book 4, so presume the teachers and assistants at our schools carried on their work in a very efficient manner. Complaints come quicker than words of commendation to many of us, so we pause now to thank Mrs. McIntosh and all her helpers for their satisfactory service.

Ray Diederichsen, our high school helper and "devil," is off this week, having taken down last Friday with the chicken pox. Little sister brought home the contagion Ray reports and he thought he would like a little time off from those English assignments Miss A. Bess Clark hands out.

Speaking of English and Miss Clark, every boy we've had the past 10 years, has thought the tests by Miss Clark to be a bugaboo in their journalistic career. If they would cooperate to a reasonable extent though we know her tutorage would prove of great value to them the rest of their life.

A nice white fence with reflectors at the end of streets and the alley has been built by the city street department along Abbott st. between Newport and Santa Monica ave. Just a year and a half later than it should be but better late than never. The mills of the gods grind slowly when there is no election in the offing.

American Education Week Nov. 8 to 12 Inclusive

American education week will be observed at Pt. Loma high school throughout the entire week, Nov. 8-12 inclusive. Parents and friends are most cordially invited to take advantage of this designated week by visiting our schools, stated L. L. Bloomenshine, principal. Parents and friends are welcome in any of the classes during the day. Classroom work will be in session just as they are at all times so parents may see the real "backscene work," further stated Mr. Bloomenshine.

Open House Program

Monday evening, Nov. 8th, will be an open house for those parents who do not find it possible to visit during the school day. Teachers will be in their classrooms from 7-8:30 for conferences with parents. A student talent program will be presented in the school auditorium, 8:30-9:00.

Ocean Beach Transfer, Railway Express Co. O. W. Jordan, Plumber Move to New Quarters

Last week end Gene Henderson and O. W. Jordan moved their combined businesses to the building Henderson recently bought from Mrs. Mae Holddridge at 5040 Newport ave.

They have occupied their quarters in the Kraft building for 15 years and became very crowded with storage of the Ocean Beach Transfer, household goods of people moving, and the ever increasing freight and express business which they have handled. Mr. Jordan's plumbing supplies, gas stoves and appliances also needed more room, so these two agreeable public servants, together with their amiable secretaries, Mabel Jordan and Evalyn Harvey, are now in more commodious and comfortable quarters.

Generous offerings of floral pieces were sent with best wishes of many friends who have been served by Henderson and Jordan faithfully for the past decade.

We all wish them every success.

Will Open Photo Studio About November 15th

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Peltcher have leased the Carnevelli storeroom at 4949 Newport ave. and about Nov. 15 plan on opening an up-to-date photo studio where they will specialize on pictures of children and babies. The Peltchers have been quite successful operating under style of Bonnie Jeanne, Photographer of Children, and thought a studio in the business district would bring them all the business they could take care of.

Prisoner of Japanese Writes Note to Wife

This week a card was received by Mrs. A. W. Meyers, 6204 Makee ave., Los Angeles (formerly of Ocean Beach), from her husband, Adolph Wessel Meyers, a war prisoner of the Jpaanese.

Meyers, a Navy warrant officer, was captured while stationed at the naval hospital in Guam and has been transferred from Zentsuji to Osaka war prison camp. He is 38 years of age and has been in the Navy 18 years. His family has not seen him since April 5, 1941.

Meyers stated he was doing medical work in the camps and was enjoying good health. Looking forward to a glorious reunion in the future.

2500 Temporary Living Units To Be Built Near Ocean Beach

Housing, schools, business houses, banks, post-offices and all utilities of this area will again be taxed to their full limit by next summer, for the public housing administration has made available $7,500,000 for new temporary war housing multiple units to be built immediately, which means that before spring they should be ready for occupancy.

The site is south of the intersection of W. Point Loma blvd. and Midway dr. In this same area hundreds of units are just now being completed as well as a trailer site, ready for occupancy, which will hold about 500 trailers.

The majority of these people will find the utility and public conveniences of Ocean Beach the handiest of all so naturally are going to do their trading here.

Withholding Tax Deadline Oct. 31

Warning was issued Monday to Southern California employers by Harry C. Westover, Collector of Internal Revenue, that only this week remains in which to file withholding tax returns for the third quarter of the year.

All employers are required to file Form W-1 to report all Income and Victory taxes withheld from employees' wages between July 1 and Sept. 30. The returns must be filed not later than Oct. 31.

Penalties of 5% per month will be levied against employers who fail to file Form W-1 on time. A minimum penalty of $10.00 will be assessed. In addition, interest at the rate of 6% per year will be charged for failure to turn over the withheld taxes. The minimum interest charge is $10.00. Thus an employer who fails to file or pay by next Monday is faced with a minimum additional charge of $20..00. An employer who files on time but does not pay will face a minimum interest charge of $10.00.

Remittances to cover the withheld taxes should be made separate from remittances to cover Social Security taxes which are also due by Oct. 11. Employers should not send in one check to cover both taxes.

Civilian Defense---

By ONA E. PITCOCK

Wednesday morning, Nov. 3rd at 10 a.m. in the Chamber of Commerce building Mrs. David A. Fraser will hold her monthly district leaders meeting. Guest speakers will be Commander H. H. Ritter of the District Security office, 11th Naval Dist., U. S. N.; Vice-Adm. Chas. H. Blakely (ret) U. S. N. and Verne Parker, executive officer, Civilian Defense Corps.

Eighty thousand surgical dressings are our quota, for this area, to be ready by Nov. 30th. Our boys are very badly in need of clean dressings, especially in the south Pacific. Please, every one who can go to the Marine base or Loma Portal Red Cross rooms and help. You will be helping so much, where help is badly needed.

Don't forget to call F-7044 and make a date with the Blood Bank. Your blood may save a life, the life of a boy 10,000 miles or more from home in a strange country. It might be your boy or a relative, whoever it is, it is some mother's son.

Red Cross Distributing unit at 4769 Del Monte ave., has a full line of yarn and sewing materials. We have hospital pajamas that are very badly needed. Will you please help? They are very simple, all cut and ready to sew.

We are all packing our Christmas boxes. Red Cross recently gave a list of things you can put in your boxes and when to send in to headquarters. You can purchase the boxes at 4769 Del Monte or 4645 Saratoga ave., for two cents. The latest orders are to wrap each article in Christmas wrappings and use as many seals as you wish. Wrap and tie in tissue paper. Use Christmas ribbon. On the outside put under ribbon, (so it will not be lost) an itemized list of the articles in the box. Mark your box Army or Navy. The difference is that khaki colored articles go in the Army boxes and blue and white in the Navy boxes. Don't forget our boys.

The Block Plan wants to give 500 boxes. We never have failed and we won't this time. All gifts must be new. Soap, tablets, pencils, playing cards, cigarettes, razor blades, shaving cream, wash cloths, mystery stories, hard candies, gum, etc.

Remember, we want fur for our Merchant Marine, junk jewelry, phonograph records, and don't fail to save your grease and old papers.

Red Cross wants artificial Christmas trees, tree trimmings, etc., so boys on the ships and our local boys in camps can have a Merry Christmas.

The race of mankind would perish did they cease to aid each other.—Walter Scott.

Kiwanians Induct John Loftus

Milton Lancaster was program chairman at Ocean Beach Kiwanis club Tuesday evening having as guest speaker, Frank C. Harmon of La Jolla. Mr. Harmon has an enviable record in Kiwanis work and membership with an outstanding record of 17 years perfect attendance, meaning that there was 884 weeks in which he never missed a meeting. Harmon also served the La Jolla club as secretary for several years, then became its president. His next step upward was to secretary of the 11th division, comprising San Diego and Imperial counties. Following his service as secretary he was made lieutenant governor of this same division.

Harmon's brief and enjoyable talk was principally to the newer members who have come into the local club in the past six months. He reviewed the mechanics of Kiwanis in its every particular and showed its force for good to community and members alike.

John E. Loftus, Ocean Beach realtor, advisory director of selective service and chairman of the local ration board, was introduced to the club by the membership chairman and inducted into the group by Burritt S. Mills.

T. C. Davidson of New Jersey, was a guest of Martin Murphy and Bob Douglas, Marine, was a guest of Joe Lownes, local merchant, who is also a member of the Marine corps.

IVY CHAPEL SERVICES FOR JOHN HENRY ULMEN

The recitation of the Rosary, for John Henry Ulmen, 78, who died Sunday in the home of his son, Harry H. Ulmen, of 4271 Mentone st., was given Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Goodbody's Ivy chapel.

Requiem mass was held at St. Vincent's church yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. Interment was in the Holy Cross cemetery.

He was a retired farmer, born in Mankato, Minn., and had resided here 25 years. He leaves besides his son, six sisters, Julia, Barbara, Sophie, Annie and Theresa Ulmen, and Mrs. Clara Karston; and two brothers, Henry and August Ulmen, all of San Diego.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Formal Declaration of War by Italians Adds Impetus to Allied Drive on Rome; Heaviest Air Raids Blast Nazi Plants; Action Increases in Southwest Pacific

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

FORTRESS EUROPE:
Hit From All Sides

Even as Allied forces crossed the swollen Volturno river under the cover of heavy artillery fire in southern Italy, hundreds of Flying Fortresses escorted by speedy Thunderbolt fighters delivered a hard blow at the Nazis' huge roller-bearing plant in Schweinfurt, Germany.

In crossing the Volturno, Allied forces chose to span the narrow river at its eastern point, where they began working northward toward the mountains overlooking the communication lines used by the Nazis to supply their embattled legions.

While the Germans held to the west flank of the river, they were brought under increasing pressure of Allied fire from land and sea. Hovering offshore, U. S. and British warships pumped big shells into German positions inland.

In blasting Schweinfurt's roller-bearing plant, a record number of 60 Flying Fortresses were reported missing. More than 100 of fighter planes upon which the Nazis are depending to check Allied air raids, were brought down by the raiders.

Italy Now on Own

Allied consideration toward Italy will be greatly influenced by the degree of assistance she lends British and U. S. armies in the war against Germany.

Marshal Badoglio

When Badoglio declared war on the Nazis, the Allies accepted his Italian government as a partner on the strength of its ability to help beat back the Germans and thus spare U. S. and British lives.

It was made clear, however, that Badoglio's regime, as it now is, would not be accepted as a political partner; and the Allies would only give Italy political recognition upon the formation of a liberal democratic government.

Because of Italy's weakened industrial and agricultural position, it was presumed that some sort of assistance, possibly through lend-lease, would have to be given her to equip and maintain her for fighting.

SUBSIDIES:
To Dairy Farmers

To offset the increased cost of feed, the government will pay subsidies ranging from 30 to 50 cents per hundredweight on whole milk sales, and from 4 to 6 cents a pound on butterfat.

Based on increased feed costs, the different rates were fixed to assist farmers who have to purchase more feed than formerly, with maximum payments going to farmers in drouth counties where feed crops suffered damage.

Subsidies will be paid after farmers submit such satisfactory evidence as creamery statements as to the amount of milk or butterfat sold to their AAA county committee. In all, 3½ million dairy farmers are expected to qualify under the 60-million-dollar program.

The whole subsidy question appeared to be headed for a thorough going over again, with the house banking and currency committee advising congress to allow subsidy payments to producers only, and not to reduce retail food costs.

RUSSIA:
Battle Rages

The great battle for the Dnieper river raged.

With Russian forces across the river at several points, German troops fought desperately to prevent their organization for full scale encircling attacks, which would trap the Nazi armies from the rear.

Far to the south of the 750-mile front, the Reds assaulted Nazi positions protecting their forces in the Crimea. Since the Germans held shortened defense lines in this sector, any Russian breakthrough would compel them to fall back to the Dnieper river and thus extend their battle front, or else trap at least 100,000 Nazis.

Standing behind prepared positions, the Germans bitterly resisted the Reds' repeated attacks on their northern lines guarding the Baltic states and old Poland.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC:
Strike Jap Air Posts

Now that Allied ground forces have driven the Japs from most of their Southwest Pacific outposts, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command is concentrating on the elimination of all enemy air bases which might be used to harass further drives to the north toward the Philippines.

For this task, imaginative General MacArthur is using large air fleets. Hundreds of Liberator and Mitchell bombers poured 350 tons of bombs on Rabaul, leaving that important Japanese supply depot for their entire Southwest Pacific front, smoking in ruins.

After Rabaul, General MacArthur's bombers trained their sights on remaining Jap air bases in the Solomons, and with U. S. fighters, attacked the main airdromes from which the enemy has been raiding Allied posts to the south.

Southwest China Periled

Trying to seal off the back door of China, three strong Japanese columns drove toward Yunnan province's capital of Kunming.

The Japs attacked along the Burma road, which leads into China at the point of the enemy's new attack. Chinese forces bitterly resisted the Japs' drive, with the aid of the 14th U. S. air force, which pounded the invaders' gas and oil dumps and military installations.

With the Japs dominating much of the eastern coast of China, key to the entrance of the country lies in the southwestern section, known as Yunnan province. This section assumes important significance with talk of Allied plans of driving into China from Burma.

LABOR:
Lewis Back in AFL

John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers were welcomed back into the American Federation of Labor at its 63rd annual convention in Boston, with formal re-entrance delayed until settlement of disputes between certain AFL unions and the UMW's District 50, which organized in their fields.

Once ridiculed by Lewis as an "Old Lady," AFL President William Green swallowed his pride and, pleading for unity in labor, led the fight for the UMW's re-admission against opposition from the floor of the convention, mustered by the Progressive Miners Union, which stayed in the AFL when the UMW bolted it in 1935.

Re-entrance of Lewis' 700,000 miners into the AFL will boost the organization's total membership well over the seven-million mark.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

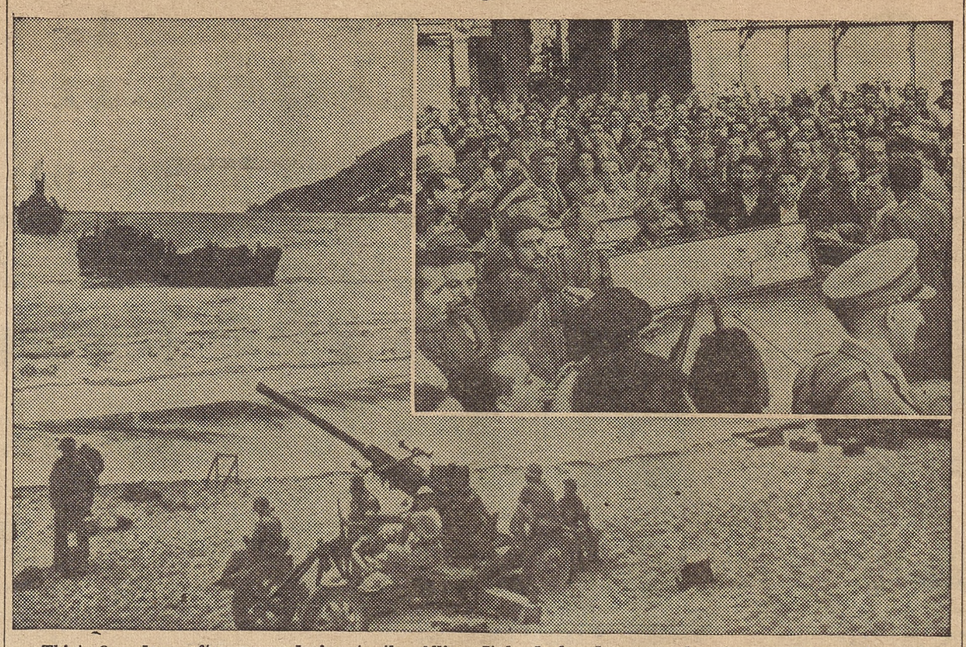
BASEBALL: It is reasonably certain that major league baseball will continue to be played in the 1944 season, club presidents agree. There are between 30 and 40 players in the two leagues who have been rejected by the armed forces on physical grounds, and several others are over 38. With this nucleus, it is expected that satisfactory teams can be organized.

CHECKS: A million checks every working day, or 300 million a year, will soon be the rate of issue of the federal government, according to W. A. Julian, treasurer of the government. He explained that payments to families of service men account for the huge number of small checks. Expenditures are now running around seven and a half billion dollars a month, he said.

Italian Scenes Preceding New War Declaration



Thirty-five days after surrendering to the Allies, Italy declared war on her former Axis partner, Germany. Marshal Pietro Badoglio announced the declaration and said that German ferocity had "surpassed every limit of human imagination" at Naples. In picture above, British anti-aircraft units are shown covering the arrival of troops near the Chiunzi pass, gateway to that city. Inset: After the fall of Naples, Italians mobbed a car carrying three fascist generals who had been in charge of defenses there. The generals had co-operated with the Germans and required Allied protection from the angry Italian masses.

Yankees in Germany Fare Better Than Civilians

A visiting delegate of the War Prisoners Aid of the YMCA made these photographs of captured American soldiers at a German prison camp southeast of Berlin. The prison camp fare plus weekly 1½ pound food packages from the American Red Cross give the interned Yankees a better diet than that of German civilians. Top left: Prisoners receive Red Cross food parcels. Bottom left: American prisoners lined up before the mess hall. Some wear British uniforms because theirs were worn out or destroyed in battle. Right: Henry Soderberg, Swedish YMCA representative, talks with a leader of American prisoners.

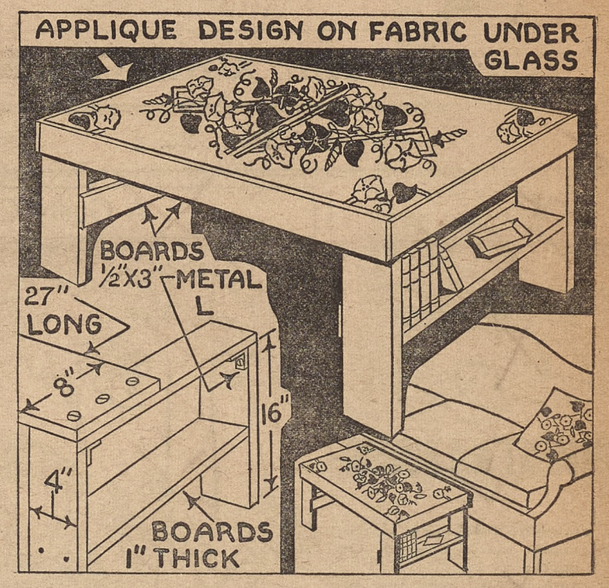
ON THE HOME FRONT
with RUTH WYETH SPEARS



IT ALL started with a bright idea for making a painted coffee table out of odds and ends of lumber. The sketch gives dimensions and shows the simple construction used to make the frame reinforced by useful shelves at the ends. So far the table was substantial but crude and that is where the lady with the needle came in.

The table was to be painted cream color and then waxed. She bought a yard of slightly darker tan sateen and appliqued a design of blue and red morning glories with green leaves on it. This was placed over the top of the table and tacked around the edge. A piece of glass was cut to fit and the finishing boards were then screwed around the sides. Any interesting fabric could be used under the glass of the table top, or bright flower prints or a map would give a good effect.

NOTE—Mrs. Spears has prepared a sheet—17 by 22 inches—giving complete dimensions and detailed directions for cutting and assembling this table; also list of exact amounts of material needed. The inexperienced person can follow these directions with the assurance of perfect results. Send 15 cents for Pattern No. 254 to:

Household Hints

To avoid losing a handkerchief placed under a bed pillow, try sewing a pocket on one side of the pillow case.

Some chopped olives and sweet or sour pickles added to cole slaw gives an interesting new flavor.

Spaghetti, macaroni, noodles, rice, are high in carbohydrates and should be counted with the cereals and breads, not as vegetables, when planning and balancing your menus.

To sprinkle clothes for ironing, use a clean whisk broom or a bottle with a perforated top.

Ground fresh meat cannot be stored successfully for any length of time after it is brought from the market. Wrap it in waxed paper and store in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator if necessary, but even so, use it as quickly as possible.

Three tablespoons of light molasses substituted for three tablespoons of the liquid used in making bread pudding will add much to the flavor of the pudding.

Do you know the new regulations on packages sent to men in the service? Here they are: You can send packages to soldiers anywhere in the U. S., although there are now Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men; and you can send packages to men in the Navy, Coast Guard, and Marines, wherever they are. And when you send that package from home, remember—the gift men in the service always appreciate is cigarettes. And the favorite with men in the Army, Navy, Coast Guard, and Marines is Camel (based on actual sales records in Post Exchanges and Canteens). So stop in at your local dealer today—and mail him a carton of Camels.—Adv.

Salads Belong in Autumn Menus
(See Recipes Below.)

Salads for Fall

Is a salad an integral part of your diet or do you set it aside just for summer months when vegetables are easy to obtain and serve in salad form?

Food authorities and doctors have long recommended the use of raw fruits and vegetables in the diet not only to guarantee more vitamins and minerals to the dietary, but to give the necessary roughage to the system. Vegetables contain a great deal of cellulose and are not as easily digested as the softer foods. This means they aid in proper function and elimination and belong daily in every diet.

Although we are limited in the amount of fresh vegetables obtainable in the fall and winter months, there are some available which offer many possibilities for salads. Cabbage, carrots, citrus fruits and apples are the most common. For a more substantial salad item, use cottage cheese. It will also give you a goodly amount of calcium, needed for proper bone and tooth development.

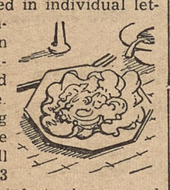
If your family has been shrunk by the call here are two recipes especially designed for smaller families:

Tomatoes Stuffed With Green Pepper Slaw.
(Serves 2)

Cut a thin slice from the stem end of each tomato. Remove seeds and part of the pulp. Sprinkle inside with salt. Invert and chill. Fill with finely shredded cabbage combined with green pepper, moistened with a dressing made of 4 tablespoons sweet cream, 2 teaspoons sugar, ½ teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons vinegar.

Green Bean Salad.
(Serves 2)

Place green stringless beans, cooked and chilled in individual lettuce cups. Combine 1 tablespoon vinegar, ¼ teaspoon salt and pepper to taste. Beat with egg beater or shake in a jar until well blended. Mash 3 tablespoons Roquefort cheese and then add oil and vinegar mixture slowly, stirring until very smooth. Pour over beans and serve at once.



Surprise Vegetable Salad.
Sliced boiled beets
Sliced boiled string beans
Sliced boiled carrots
Boiled green peas
Boiled lima beans
French dressing
Chopped chives
Boiled potatoes

Prepare and cook separately, in the usual manner, an equal quantity of all the vegetables mentioned in recipe. Boil potatoes with their jackets, peel while still warm and marinate in french dressing while still warm. When ready to serve vegetables, have them well chilled and arrange in layers in a large salad bowl, starting with beets at the bottom, followed by lima beans, then string beans, next with carrots, followed by peas. When all vegetables are used, pour over them a tart, well-seasoned french dressing. Cover the whole with a layer of potatoes, being sure that all the peas are covered. Sprinkle top with fresh, chopped chives and serve.

Greens, be they lettuce, romaine, chicory or escarole, need little else but a dressing for they are perfectly delicious just so and a splendid course for a heavy type of dinner:

Salad With Egg Dressing.
(Serves 6)
2 heads of lettuce
4 hard-boiled eggs
⅔ cup cream
¼ cup lemon juice or cider vinegar
Salt and pepper
Prepared mustard

Wash lettuce carefully and dry thoroughly. Put the yolks of the eggs through a ricer and let them drop to the bottom of a well-chilled salad bowl. Add a little prepared mustard and stir with a wooden spoon, adding the cream gradually. Season to taste with the salt and pepper, then add lemon juice and vinegar. Add the lettuce, toss lightly and sprinkle the chopped whites of egg over all. Serve on cold plates.

The use of cottage cheese with salads gives them a heartiness which is particularly necessary in the cooler weather. Here is a well-seasoned salad, pretty and colorful:

Apple, Carrot, Cottage Cheese Salad
(Serves 6)
3 apples, coarsely diced
2 cups shredded raw carrot
1 tablespoon onion, finely minced
1 cup cottage cheese
¼ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Dice unpeeled apples and combine with grated carrot and onion. Add the cottage cheese blended with mayonnaise, lemon juice, salt and pepper. Mix well. Serve on lettuce.

Molded Cranberry Salad.
(Serves 8 to 10)
½ pound cranberries
1 medium-sized apple, unpeeled
1 orange and rind
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 package orange-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
½ cup cold water
½ cup chopped celery

Pick over cranberries, wash and drain well. Grind cranberries, apple and orange (including rind), saving any liquid which remains. Stir in sugar. Cover and set aside while gelatin is dissolved in hot water Add cold water and allow to become partly jellied, then add cranberry mixture and jelly. This may be poured either into a loaf pan or individual molds rinsed with cold water. Allow to jell, then unmold on lettuce.

Sandwich Fillings

Don't forget that raw vegetables with all their good vitamins and minerals are wonderful as sandwich fillings. Grind raw spinach leaves with crisp bacon, hard-cooked egg onion, moistened with mayonnaise Or, combine equal parts of raw carrot and turnip and mix with chopped chives, peanuts and mayonnaise This is good on French bread.

Lynn Says:

Salad Notes: Ingredients for a salad should be large enough to retain their identity. It's not a good idea to hide a vegetable the family does not like by chopping it very fine. Shred, but do not chop vegetables.

Simplest salads are the most attractive. A salad should taste as good as it looks.

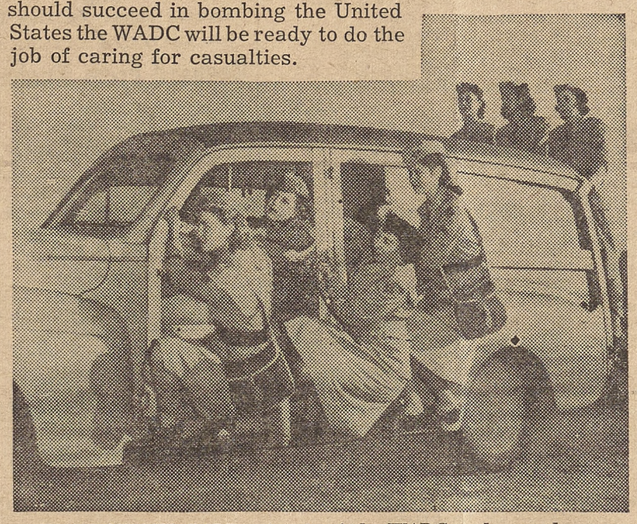
Toss ingredients lightly, never stir ambitiously. Dressing need not cover every piece. Salad greens should always be clean, crisp, fresh.

Drain all vegetables thoroughly, before using. Serve them on clean, well-chilled plates, as cold as possible.

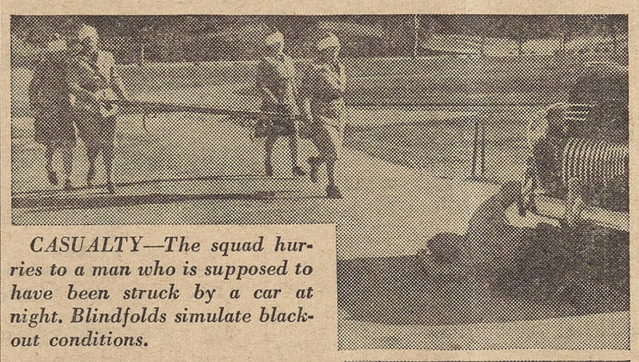
Vary salads from day to day. Try new combinations of color, vegetables and fruit.

If Bombs Should Fall Here

We have not been bombed by enemy planes—yet. Most of us believe it will never happen, but some of our best minds still think that before the Axis gives up it will attempt to strike one desperate blow at this country. There is a group of women in this country who refuse to succumb to over-optimism. They call themselves the Women's Ambulance and Defense Corps of America. They are adhering to a program of preparedness for the worst. And if Axis planes should succeed in bombing the United States the WADC will be ready to do the job of caring for casualties.

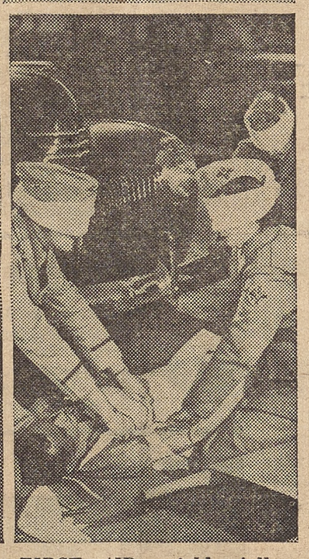


EMERGENCY CALL—A unit of the WADC rushes to the scene of a "disaster" during a drill in Los Angeles, Calif. They wear natty uniforms designed for utility rather than decorativeness.



CASUALTY—The squad hurries to a man who is supposed to have been struck by a car at night. Blindfolds simulate blackout conditions.

TOUCH SYSTEM—Injuries are a fractured leg, bleeding artery and a fractured rib. All diagnosis is done by touch.



FIRST AID quickly follows diagnosis. Still blindfolded, the women tie bandages, apply splints and make tourniquets.

IMPORTANT to whoever gets the patient next is the time tourniquet was applied. It must be loosened every 15 minutes. Time is written on forehead.

GAS MASK DRILL is part of the training of the WADC. A member is pictured testing her mask. She places her palm over the intake and sucks in. If the mask is leakproof, the cheek pieces collapse inward. She wears her blindfold over the mask.

THE WADC was organized in 1940 with 200 members. Today it numbers 35,000 in 130 units throughout the United States.

NAVY DAY CELEBRATED

Navy Day in 1943, which was Oct. 27, has a greater significance than ever before. This is true not only because we have a bigger Navy than ever before—the largest in world history—but because it is doing one of the greatest jobs any Navy was ever called upon to do.

Since July of 1940, right after the fall of France, our Navy has grown from 1076 vessels, including 383 warships, to over 14,000 with more than 600 fighting ships. Navy planes number 18,000 as against 1700 three years ago.

After the treachery of the Japs brought disaster at Pearl Harbor, our Navy literally rose from the dead to defend America against her enemies. From those dark days early in the war when the Axis taunted, "Where is the American Fleet?", our men in blue have fought their way back along a hard, uphill road to smash the Nips back at Midway, crush them in the Coral Sea and drive them into hiding. Now the question is: Where is the Japanese fleet?

In this global war it's the Navy that has to get our fighting men to the fronts, cover their landings and protect them from counter-attack.

But what of our Navy after victory? Are we going to let it become obsolete? We Americans are peace-loving people but past experience warns us to keep our great fleet in good trim as long as there is any possible danger that we may again be called upon to take up arms in defense of democracy.

HALLOWE'EN

"The goblins will get you if you don't watch out!"

Which is just another way of saying that, war or no war, the season for witches and goblins and black cats, better known as Hallowe'en, will soon be upon us.

And as usual, we can expect the vigor and enthusiasm of the younger generation to be generously expended in helping the "dwellers of the dark" to carry out their mystic rites.

Queer things happen on Hallowe'en. Strange markings appear on plate-glass windows, weird faces move along the street, pop-eyed, candle-lit pumpkins, grinning from ear to ear, greet you here and there. Feet patter on the porch and the doorbell rings—but nobody's there!

So, you had better watch out. Don't say we didn't warn you!

WORLD FRONTS

German troops in Italy were still "advancing" slowly—to the rear—under the pressure of American and British armies. But they were leaving terrible devastation behind them and were shooting civilians in giving vent to their hatred of the Italians. With the Allied forces still over 90 miles from the Italian capitol, their "march on Rome" promises to be a long one unless some way is found to bring about a swifter Nazi withdrawal. In Russia the invaders were struggling desperately to hold Melitopol on the extreme southern end of the line. Fighting within the city itself had been raging for days. Fall of Melitopol would throw the Germans back into an area of lands that would be very hard to defend. Nazi troops are evacuating the Crimea.

'teensters

By JOAN CLARKIN

Was it a peaceful night when Joy Slaters gave a slumber party Oct. 19? The teensters that slept quietly were Paula Schiefer, Jean Kettenburg, Gwen Harvey, Betty Stevenson, Janet Wallace, Nancy Williams, and Joline Baldridge.

What a night it was when Barney Quinn decided on having a cozy evening of hay riding. The lucky ones being Pete Peckham, Jolene Baldridge, Hank Purdy, Shirley Thiverg, Kenny O'Neal, Nancy Sherwin, Bill Hamlin, Betty Stevenson, John Mader, Louis Eby, George Bradbury, Betty Dixon, Barney Quinn, and Nancy Williams.

Hallowe'en will be celebrated very appropriately when Joanne Wight will give a dance Saturday, Oct. 30. The Lomans invited are Diane Wildly, Barbara Shearer, Patsy O'Brian, Marsha Drummet, Ethel Williams, Stancil Wilson, Donald Longnecker, Quentin Decker, Jim Prignoe, Waine Smith, Richard Wilson, Mark Sissons.

Bill Garishes' house was the center of excitement when he gave a dance last Saturday at 7. The femmes and males that attended the dance being Bill Mosely, Nannett Oehser, Bill Garish, Mildred Everyham, and Jim Moore. They had 'a buffet dinner which held drinks, sandwiches, and other delicious food.

Hallowe'en will be celebrated with a party given by Joan Clarkin on Friday, Oct. 29. The Lomans invited will be Adele Kissinger, Nancy Peterson, Priscilla Allen, Carolyn Caruthers, Joanne Wight, Joyce Bishoff, Sarah Avery, Betty Dearing, Beverly Richardson, Ann Caraway, Theresa Murphy, Loraine Cardoza, Joanne Chapel, Amelia Bruce, and Nancy Rice.

Sweeter than the balm of Gilead, richer than the diamonds of Golconda, dear as the friendship of those we love, are justice, fraternity, and Christian charity. —Mary Baker Eddy.

The charm of evening
When soft shadows falling,
The gold of the light
That bursts o'er the hill;
The clear, crystal sky-line
Where colors are falling

Buck Private Jim

By LEONA H. CARLSON

He was just a buck private, a soldier named Jim
But the home folks had reason to be proud of him
He didn't win honors and titles and such,
The things that the world seems to think means so much.

There were few ever knew of his heartaches and cares
And few who know of his tears and his prayers
His cross grew so heavy in that last long mile
But the world never knew for he gave it a smile.

He took the hard trainin' and didn't complain
He took lots of grief and endured lots of pain
He was tired and weary and lonesome for home
But he hid everything—to the world 'twas unknown.

He didn't have schoolin' or much of a chance
He didn't have quite enough pull to advance
But Jim was a fighter and felt mighty fine
When he sailed o'er the sea to the enemy's line.

One night in the fightin' this side of Algiers
A captain called urgently for volunteers
A message must go past the enemy's line,
The thots of this task sent sharp chills through each spine.

Jim, first to step forward, said "Sir, I'm your man
I'll take through that message I know that I can!"
But a mean sniper's bullet struck Jim in the side
And his pure, red blood flowed from the wound, deep and wide.

He crawled on while dying and reaching his goal
In the dawn of that morning so misty and cold.
He opened his eyes for one last worldly view
And back there saw waving the red, white and blue.

And when thru that message the battle's tide turned
The regiment waited for Jim to return
His buddies stood speechless with eyes that were dim
To pay their last tribute to Buck Private Jim.

No great hero living, no matter how brave
Has given to freedom what Private Jim gave
He sleeps near the briny, all silent and cold,
While the angels in glory have welcomed his soul.

And when the great judgment and honors begin,
Believe me, this world will pay homage to Jim
God doesn't count titles, stripes, eagles and bars
But gives the high honors to him with the scars.

Desert at Twilight

The desert sea
That stretch like burning sands
Beneath the violet-blue,
A-bash in gold
Of sunsets flame
And flushed with vapor-dew

The sky that forms
The seas vast dome,
And seems eternal
To the eye—
Is pushed through twilight
To retire,
Like night
Across the sea-born sky.

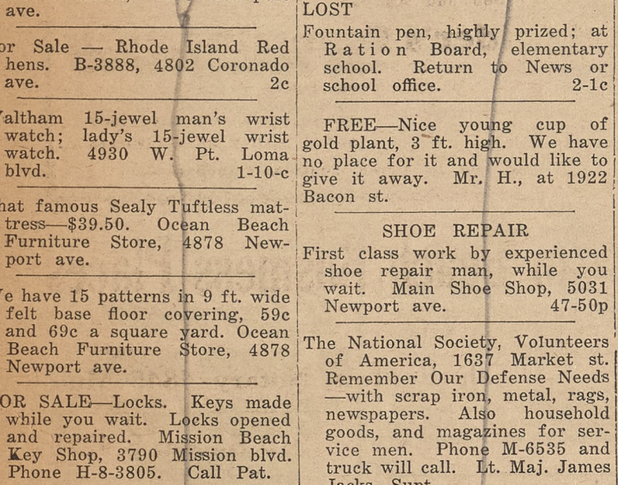
AMERICAN HEROES
BY LEFF



With every superior officer on the cruiser San Francisco either killed or wounded during the battle of Savo Island, Comdr. Herbert E. Schonland, who was stationed below as damage control officer, sent word to the officer on the bridge to take charge, ending tersely, "I'm too damned busy down here fighting fire and water."
We fight beside our Navy heroes if we keep busy buying War Bonds.

See Here, Private Hargrove!

by Marion Hargrove

W.N.U. SERVICE

THE STORY SO FAR: Private Marion Hargrove, late of the editorial staff of the Charlotte (N. C.) News, has been inducted into the army, classified as a cook and has spent a large share of his "spare" moments on KP duty. He has taken time out, however, to advise prospective doughboys to "paint the town red" before induction and once in the army to "keep an open mind" as the "first three weeks are the hardest." His constant assignment to KP is the despair of his sergeant who believes Hargrove will never learn to be a crack soldier. His last experience was a rifle inspection in which he fared badly. Now he begins a new episode concerning advancement in rank.

CHAPTER IV

Selectee Joseph G. Gantt, late of Liberty, South Carolina, came out for reveille this morning with a grin you could have used for a foot rule. He held both his arms against the front of his shirt in a queerly strained posture and blushed happily every time someone looked at him.

"The heat's got the boy," I told Gene Shumate. "Looks like the best ones always go first."

"That ain't the heat," said Cookie. "He seems to have a cramp in his arms." We looked at Citizen-Soldier Gantt's arms again. Then, for the first time, we noticed two shining stripes on each sleeve. Citizen-Soldier Gantt was a corporal now!

"Heavens to Betsy," we shouted in unison for his benefit. "Is that punk a corporal?" Corporal Gantt acknowledged the tribute by joyfully changing his color to a holiday

"Heavens to Betsy," we shouted in unison for his benefit. "Is that punk a corporal?"

red. The grin widened until his ears hung perilously on the brink of his lips. It took him half the morning to sober his spirits to working conditions.

Corporal Gantt has been in the Army exactly four months. He had been an acting corporal for three weeks before he got his stripes.

Heaven grant him strength for the ordeal ahead.

The term "buck private" was explained to us this afternoon. It refers to the Old Army Game, "passing the buck." The sergeant is first called on the carpet for a mistake in his platoon. The sergeant seeks out the corporal and gives him a dressing-down. The corporal passes the buck by scalding the ears of the private. The private doesn't even have a mule to kick, so he can't pass the buck any farther. He keeps it. That makes him a buck private.

The Army, I find, has many subtle ways to trap the unwary into volunteering for work. First there was the sergeant over at the Reception Center who came through the recreation hall one afternoon calling for "Private Smith." Four men answered. All four were put to work picking up cigarette stubs.

On the call, "Anybody in here know how to handle a truck?" don't speak up. The last three were seen later pushing a hand truck up the battery street to haul rifle racks.

Corporal Henry Ussery is to date the most dangerous conscriptor. This week he came into the squadroom to ask if anyone was good at shorthand. Three citizen-soldiers admitted that they were.

"Report to the kitchen," the corporal laughed. "The mess sergeant says he's shorthanded on dishwashers."

"One of the most solemn and responsible trusts of a soldier," Sergeant "Curly" Taylor said today, "is his guard duty." Sergeant Taylor, who has been in the Army for nineteen years and probably knows more about guard duty than any man in Fort Bragg, is teaching us about guard duty now.

The soldier is called to this duty about once a month. For a twenty-four-hour period, he is on two hours, and off four hours, and he "walks his post in a military manner," guarding the peace and possessions and safety of a part of the post. He is responsible only to a corporal of the guard, a sergeant of the guard, an officer of the day, and his commanding officer.

The guard, or sentry, is known chiefly to the reading and movie-going public by two expressions, "Halt, who goes there?" and "Corporal of the guard! Post number three!" The former, Sergeant Taylor said with his best poker-face, has given the Army considerable worry at times.

According to the sergeant, the guard is instructed to give the "halt" order three times and then shoot. Over-enthusiastic rookies from the back counties, he said, had been known to go like this: "Halt halt halt! Ka-POW!" (You can believe it or leave it; I never question what the sergeant says.)

There was one rookie guard, he said, who halted him, questioned him and allowed him to pass. After he had gone several steps, the sentry again shouted, "Halt!" Sergeant Taylor came back and wanted to know—politely, of course—how come. "My orders," said the guard, "say to holler 'Halt' three times and then shoot. You're just on your second halt now!"

The other popular expression is the come-a-running call that goes up the line to the guardhouse when a guard takes a prisoner or "meets any case not covered by instruction" (General Order No. 9). If the guard is on the seventh post, he sings out, "Corporal of the guard! Post number seven!" The guard on the sixth post picks up the cry and it goes down the line like that.

There's the story about the officer of the day who questioned a new sentry, as officers of the day frequently do in order to test the sentries. "Suppose," the OD asked, "that you shouted 'halt" three times and I kept going, what would you do?"

The guard was apparently stumped by the question. Finally he answered, "Sir, I'd call the corporal of the guard."

The officer of the day gloated. "Aha!" he said. "So you'd call the corporal of the guard, would you? And just why would you call the corporal of the guard?"

This time the answer was prompt and decisive—and correct. "To haul away your dead body, sir!"

Heroes are born, not made.

There's one job here that is nothing but goldbricking in itself. That's the latrine orderly detail. You go to work after lunch and spend the rest of the afternoon watching the fire in the water heater and feeding it regularly—every two hours. The next morning you sweep and mop the washroom and spend the rest of the time until lunch watching the fire again. All in all, you lead a lazy, carefree existence.

There was a slip-up somewhere yesterday. I was latrine orderly instead of a KP. It was probably the mess sergeant's idea.

The boys started out after lunch for an afternoon of drilling in the warm Carolina sunshine and learning to drive trucks across ditches.

An hour later, I decided to take a casual look at the boiler. When I opened the furnace-room door, a blast of strong brownish smoke struck me to the ground. I lay there for several minutes, tapping my forehead thoughtfully, while more smoke poured out.

When it still hadn't slackened after five minutes, I crawled under the layer of smoke to the boiler. There the sickening vapor was, pouring nonchalantly through clinks in the door.

"Don't come telling me about it," said Sergeant "Ma" Davidson. "Take out the pipes and clean them. All of them."

I had to see the top sergeant to get my instructions. When I returned to Sergeant Davidson I was happy again.

"Ma," I told him, "the top kick says for you to supervise the job."

The sergeant was furious with rage and frustration. I grabbed a screwdriver and he grabbed Private Downer, who had a black mark by his name for not wearing his identification tag. The three of us started work.

First, put out the fire in the boiler. Shake it down, throw ashes on it. It still burns. Shake it down more, throw sand on it. Still burns. Close the bottom door, shake it down more, throw ashes and sand on it. Curse it. After too long, it dies.

The man who devised the system for connecting an indoor boiler and an outdoor chimney should be parched with his own pipes and stuffed with oily soot.

Unscrew a pipe, lift it gently, coax it from its socket. Easy does it. Careful there. When you have it almost out, inhale for your sigh of relief. Crash! The whole network of pipes bounces off the floor scattering ashes and soot over half the battery area.

After half an hour of scrubbing and wiping the interior regions of all the pipes, they're ready to go up again. All but one of them are in place and the last one is ready to be fitted. Careful there! Easy, now! Watch out! Catch it! CRASH!

The boys come in from the drill field at 4:30 and head for the showers. There is no hot water.

"Get a load of that Hargrove," they fume, in an unnecessarily nasty manner. "He gets a job where all he has to do is throw a shovel of coal on the fire every two hours. And then when we come in, there ain't no hot water. There ain't even no fire. Throw the bum out."

I grinned weakly as I reported to the supply sergeant for work. "You must be that nice Sergeant Thomas W. Israel I've heard so many nice things about."

"No, little man," he said. "I'm the nice Sergeant Israel you've been running your loud mouth about. I'm the nice sergeant who always gives you the wrong clothing sizes and hides your laundry and does all those awful things you've been telling about me."

"So help me, sergeant," I protested. "I never named thee but to praise. Somebody's been trying to poison your mind against me."

"I am also the nice sergeant," he said, "who is going to let you earn your seventy cents today. Take off your fatigue blouse, my man, and prepare to sweat. Today we make progress. We are going to unpack rifles."

It seems to me that when the manufacturer prepares to pack a box of Army rifles, his cruel streak comes out at its worst. From the look of the rifles, he has his three-year-old daughter prepare a compound of molasses, pitch, and used motor oil—the gooier the better. He slings each gun into the resulting mess, sloshes it around for a while, and then lays it neatly into the box.

You use a swab about the size of a tablecloth to wipe the grease from the rifle. When you're halfway through the first rifle, you have to use the gun to wipe the grease from the cloth. When you have finished, you need a large coal shovel to wipe the grease off yourself.

There is nothing so conducive to itching as the inability to scratch. Just when the molasses-pitch-axle grease mixture covers your hand to the point where you can't see the outlines of the fingers, that left nostril starts tingling. At first it itches only a little and you decide to suffer it. So you don't wipe your hands on the seat of your trousers. Instead you pick up another rifle and your hand sinks to the elbow in the goo which wraps it. This is the stage where your nose gets peevish and impatient and decides to itch in earnest.

Finally, you decide to give in. You wipe your hands—an operation which takes a good three or four minutes for satisfactory results. You lift your hand to scratch your nose, only to find that your nose isn't itching any more.

I was doing fairly well this morning, even when you take the itch into consideration, until the mess sergeant happened to stroll by.

"Hello, little man," he sings gaily, with a horrible gleam in his eyes. "You've not been around to see me for a long time. Aren't mad, are you?"

I look at my hands, at the rifle, at the old shoe, and at the mess sergeant. I hold my tongue. Health is wealth.

"We miss you terribly in the kitchen," he coos, "even when you go griping around that my food is the worst in the Army. I just saw the first sergeant and I asked him to let you be a KP just as soon as he can spare you. Oh, we're going to do wonders to that kitchenware, you and I."

He pats me on the forehead with ominous tenderness and departs.

The sergeant yelled out of the window at me, so I dropped my broom and went upstairs.

Five paces away, he turns for a parting shot. "Blabbermouth!" he snorts.

I suppose he's good to his mother, though.

The sergeant yelled out the window at me, so I dropped my broom in the battery street and went upstairs. He was sitting on the foot locker, thoughtfully rubbing his chin with the handle of his mess-kit knife.

"Ralph Oxford got called up to the battery commander's office this morning," he said, "and do you know what the Old Man gave him?"

"I've got a pretty good idea," I said. "If he gave him what he gave me when I got called up, it has four letters, starts with an h and ends with an l."

The sergeant closed his eyes and slowly shook his head. "Oxford isn't a sore thumb to the platoon like you are," he groaned. "Oxford got a bright red stripe to wear around his sleeve."

"Oxford's no fireman," I told him.

"You're dern right he ain't," said the sergeant. "Starting with today, Oxford and Zuber and Roff and Maciejewski and Pappas and Mihalakakos are acting corporals!"

I knew there must be a moral to all this, so I waited for him to go on.

"Now, why couldn't you have been one of those six boys?" he asked.

Fur Hat and Bag Ensembles Add Drama to Fall Costumes

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

The prevailing formula for smart clothes this year is the dress or coat or suit that is classic in its simplicity, the same to serve as a background for accessories that are as eye-appealing as good taste and money can buy. This leads up to describing the hat and bag set to the right. Here you see the "last word" in fur luxury interpreted in this stunning Cossack hat, made of black seal, together with a massive matching bag. The hat is ornamented with an imposing big jewel, done in the true Russian spirit, the magnificent success of Russian arms having inspired this millinery triumph from John Frederics. The little Cossack hat is an outstanding favorite this season.

IF IT'S something of outstanding style distinction you're seeking this season to give dash and fillip to your appearance, keep your eye on what's doing in way of working fur into hats and bags and a multitude of other accessories, such as will impart a touch of elegance to your costume that will rate you among the best dressed wherever you go.

The importance of fur in one's costume makeup is the subject of conversation here, there and everywhere in the fashion realm. Unprecedented is the enthusiasm shown for coats that are fur-lined. To keep pace with fashion's stride one really should have a glorified wool coat that is handsomely lined with fur. Then there's the flair for fur-trimmed suits and dresses that is sweeping at a mad pace this season throughout all fashion centers. And when one's dress or suit is trimmed with fur it is a safe guess that the ensemble will be completed with a hat and bag made of matching fur.

The swank, the novelty and the wealth of ideas expressed in these glamorous hat-and-bag sets simply cannot be expressed in words. Some idea of their superb styling is conveyed in the two "sets" shown in the illustration. The designer of the striking hat and bag pictured to the left teams ocelot and black leather together in a most fetching manner This cunning "milk-maid" bonnet catches the sprightly air of youth with its bright spotted furs. The little shirred poke with its open curved back has smart leather bows and a leather facing for the spotted fur brim. The large oval of matching ocelot is sheathed with black leather to carry out the ensemble idea. Wear this to town with a black dress or suit—it will be smart looking day or evening.

Rich browns are making color news this year, and you can choose nothing smarter than an outfit done in a radiant tone of brown, the same highlighted with hat and other details worked in handsome mink. The voguish hat shown at the top is trimmed with mink, thus calling attention to the costume entire as a "study in brown." Her gold hoop earclips and flexible gold bracelets are perfect to wear with this costume. It is just such smart wearable fur-trimmed hats as this that women will be wearing with their smart wool costumes the winter through. Smart accompaniments to these hats include a drawstring bag made of mink with detachable mink cuffs that may be worn at will. Moral—save your scraps of mink. Your furrier and your milliner can fashion an accessory collection out of them "worth a king's ransom" in appearance.

Don't throw even the tiniest swatch of fur away. In the fur pieces left over from shortening your coat or restyling it, lurk possibilities of a new drawstring bag or a "tricky" neck piece or a lapel gadget. Out of a tidbit of fur clever designers will evolve a wee bow to clip on your breast pocket of your suit or a bowknot to fasten on each cuff of your gloves or to clip on your dress-up pumps.

Rayon Taffeta

Rayon taffeta for dress-up gowns and blouses is accorded high fashion rank on the new fall program. This short dinner dress is duration-minded and effective in black rayon taffeta. Its demure apron front tunes to a styling that is charmingly youthful. There is just the right color touch in the pale pink ruching that outlines it. Gone are the days when taffeta was considered a fragile fabric. Rayon taffetas may now be tested for enduring strength and seam slippage. Rayons which have passed these tests will be so labeled to guide you in buying.

Lace Bodices

Dull-black sheath dresses are topped with bodices half of lace.

Ration-Free Shoes Come in Gabardine

Thanks to the new durable plastic soles of recent invention and to the smart gabardine for uppers, you can now be smartly shod sans coupon. In the collection of non-ration shoes that are so because they use no priority materials you will find such attractive styles as strap sandals that are made with a plastic sole that will wear like leather It's baby last and open toe wonders toward making your foot look small and graceful. A favorite for practical wear is the Mary Jane platform sandal. You can get it in black or brown gabardine with matching non-scuff low, sensible heels. In the glamour class is a slick gabardine platform pump with a common sense heel of patent. Open toes and backless is this pump with bows of grosgrain to give it fillip. Real dressy pumps such as you can wear with your smart afternoon frocks are available in the new gabardine footwear.

Trapunto Trimming

The beloved trapunto trim holds good for this fall and winter. The latest gesture is to enhance the new and popular bright velveteen with trapunto quilted design. The effect is most attractive. You can find these smart frocks in the stores but if you have a velveteen dress that calls for a glamour touch you can get pattern, material and instructions at any fancy work department for trapunto quilted design. If you can sew even a little you can easily, without much time or effort, give your afternoon velvet a new gala accent.

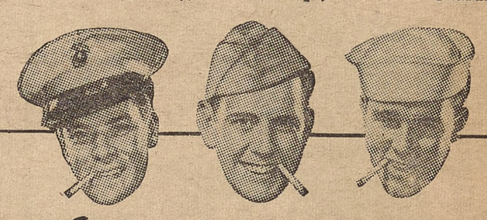
IF YOUR DEALER IS OCCASIONALLY OUT OF CAMELS

—it's because hundreds of millions of Camel cigarettes are now being sent to men in the service. In addition to the government's own purchases for our fighting men, veterans' organizations, fraternal orders, clubs, friends and relatives everywhere are sending them Camels. Yes, Camels! After all, Camels are the favorite cigarette with men in all the services—Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard.*



First in the Service
—AND THE SERVICE COMES FIRST!

WHILE we have pushed Camel's production to new peaks to meet this overwhelming demand from Uncle Sam's fighting men and from the folks at home, yet if your dealer does not always have Camels for you, he asks you to be patient while he is temporarily out of them, believing you will agree that the men in the service should come first.

* Based on actual sales records, the favorite cigarette with men in the Army, the Navy, the Coast Guard, and the Marines is Camel.

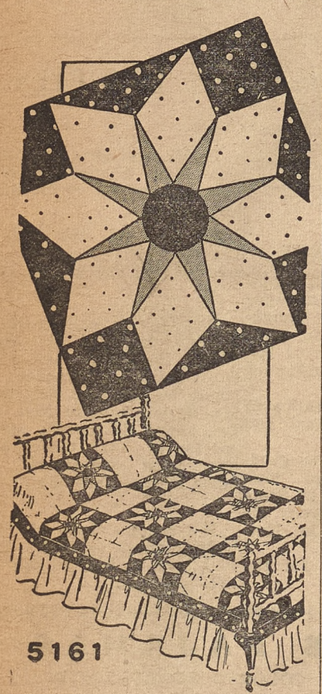
Things to do



THE "Sunflower" is one of the easiest of the quilt designs to make—the diamond-shaped pieces are easy to cut and a block works up quickly. Use brown-flecked percales, tiny patterned cream and yellow calicoes, grass-green and leaf-green cottons. Do the center in vivid yellow. Quilt has 12 pieced blocks, each 14 inches square—12 plain blocks.

To obtain cutting patterns for the Sunflower Quilt (Pattern No. 5161) complete piecing and finishing directions, amounts of all materials specified, send 16 cents in coins, your name and address and the pattern number.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

In the 45 years between 1889 and 1934, the output of rubber produced by the Far East plantations jumped from half a ton to 98 per cent of the world's supply — 1934 shipments were 1,000,000 tons. The first official record, that for 1899, shows that four tons of rubber were produced from 4000 acres under cultivation.

The greatest enemies to the long life of natural rubber are sunlight, heat, oils, greases and solvents. The ultra-violet rays of the sun penetrate the surface of rubber, causing it to oxidize; heat causes deterioration, and oils develop swelling and softening, making the rubber more susceptible to damage.
